Description

The Old Customs Building is a complex comprising the most flexible office space and retail space, supplemented by underground parking. Stará Celnice is located in the very centre of the city in a very busy location offering many business and cultural opportunities. On the north side it is bordered by V Celnici Street, the west side of the building faces to Republic Square. There was a merger of a historic building with a new building, which was built in the courtyard of the original building and exceeds it by 2 floors. The entrance to the office part of the building is located from V Celnici Street through the reception with lobby. In terms of transport, the building is easily accessible by subway with an exit to the Republic Square. There are also several tram lines. Masarykovo and Hlavní nádraží are within walking distance.
